

LETTERS TO SANTA

FROM THE CHILDREN OF DARLINGTON COUNTY

About the cover artist

Christmas came a little early for Claire Smith, a first-grader at Carolina Elementary School in Hartsville.

The Darlington County School District (DCSD) announced Smith as the winner of the 2018 Holiday Card Art Contest.

Smith painted a decidedly cheerful reindeer boasting purple eyes against a starlit blue backdrop. Employees in DCSD's Administrative Offices voted Smith's painting the winner from amongst nine finalists, all submitted by art teachers.

Smith received a certificate, $50 and a packet of holiday cards featuring her painting. She was also invited to visit the Darlington County Institute of Technology to watch the holiday cards being printed.

Smith's art teacher, Rita Szigeti, received $100 for art supplies for Carolina Elementary School.

Eight other finalists were selected for this year's competition.

They are:

- Charlie Davis, first grade, Cain Elementary School
- Derrika Graham, second grade, Rosenwald Elementary/Middle School
- Neleh James, 5K, Pate Elementary School
- McKenzie King, first grade, Thornwell School for the Arts
- Emmalin Rae Melton, second grade, Washington Street Elementary School
- Artez Steele, second grade, St. John's Elementary School
- Kathryn "Lizzy" Steen, second grade, North Hartsville Elementary School
- Journey Thomas, second grade, Lamar Elementary School
